

SPONSOR A WRITER — BECOME AN EMERGING WRITERS' FESTIVAL PEN PAL IN 2011

The Emerging Writers' Festival is the festival for writers.

Since 2004 we have grown from a one-day zine fair to an eleven-day festival that brings writers, editors publishers and performers together for a festival that has become an essential part of Australia's literary calendar.

Because we're serious about writing, we pay all festival artists for their work. Whether it's an artist's first festival or one in a string of appearances, they all receive the same payment: $75. It's our flat fee.

You can directly support the writers featured in our festival. Become a Pen Pal and for a fully tax deductible investment of $75 you will sponsor the appearance of an emerging writer at our 2011 Festival.

As well as the warm glow that you'll receive by supporting developing artists (and the Emerging Writers' Festival), as a Pen Pal you will also receive an invitation to our exclusive, festival-guests-only artists' party, and a written acknowledgement of your support in our program.
